
Publication (2019-2024)

Publication Activities

Publications in academic journals, monographs, and presentations at scientific conferences are key ways to share research findings and communicate with the scientific community and the public. The Cooperatio program plays an important role by providing support for these activities. This enables researchers and academic staff at Charles University to carry out their research projects and present their findings in these relevant platforms.

Publications within the Cooperatio Project for the years 2019–2024 by individual fields:

Psychological Sciences_Educational, School and Counselling Psychology

Psychological Sciences_General and Developmental Psychology

Psychological Sciences_Social Psychology and Work Psychology