
21st International Conference: Modern Approaches to English Teaching and Learning

ATECR 2026 in Prague * 21st International Conference: Modern Approaches to English Teaching and Learning

We invite you to the 21st International Conference on Modern approaches to English Teaching and Learning taking place on March 21, 2025 at the Faculty of Education, Charles University. Join us and explore new approaches to English language teaching, including: digital competencies, artificial intelligence, support for students with special education needs, engaging and effective activities for learning, exam preparation strategies, and teaching English for specific purposes.