Week of Doctoral Students 2010 - 19th Annual Student Conference

The Faculty organizes an international student conference every year as a part of the education of postgraduate students. In order to give the students an opportunity to prepare for their future participation in international conferences, the structure and regime of the WDS resemble strongly such a conference: near branches of study are grouped into symposia, and particular sessions of symposia are lead by experienced chair, time-schedule for contributions is firm, language of the conference is English and the written contributions are published in reviewed Proceedings.

June 1–4, 2010

WDS WELCOMES BOTH ACTIVE AND VISITING PARTICIPANTS

WDS conferences are open: besides students enrolled at the Faculty, the staff of the Faculty and co-operating academic institutions, students, and experts of other Czech and foreign universities have always taken part. These latter participants come from universities with research activities in fields similar to the study branches of the doctoral education at the Faculty and with some degree of co-operation with our departments. Their active presence allows the students, the supervisors, and the members of the Doctoral Study Branch Committees to make an objective evaluation of the results of their own work.

Staff members of the Faculty, of the institutes of the Academy of Sciences, and of other co-operating institutions are cordially invited to come. WDS offers them a rare opportunity to get fresh information about the today's research activities of the departments of the Faculty and of other co-operating institutions.

In course of the years, the number of participants increased and a saturated level of about 200 contributions (both oral and poster) was reached at the end of the last century. A short survey of this evolution is presented in following diagrams together with evolution of published papers in the WDS Proceedings.
